CODE OF CONDUCT

AmCham is an organization which represents the Costa Rican and American Business Community in Costa Rica.

Actions taken by any member of AmCham can, and do, affect the rest of the membership and the community as a whole. All members should be exemplary citizens. AmCham therefore requires its members to abide by the following code of conduct and expects its members to effectively implement employee awareness and business practices that ensure compliance with this Code.

The honest and transparent handling of our business is our rule every day and for all that we do. It is the personal responsibility of each of us to comply with applicable laws in the jurisdiction in which we operate. We employ our business processes and guidelines to do the best we can to base our business decisions on sound analysis.

Bribes & Kickbacks

Our companies' employees and representatives will abstain from giving, offering, or authorizing the offer, directly or indirectly, of anything of value such as money, goods or services, to government officials, political parties or candidates to obtain any improper or illegal advantage, either directly or indirectly.

Compliance with Laws

We agree to comply with the corresponding laws of the Republic of Costa Rica and of the United States of America as applicable to the regulations governing business conduct, international investment and international trade either existing or to be enacted in the future.

*A bribe is something of value given to someone with the intent of illegally obtaining favorable treatment from the recipient. Kickbacks consist of payment in cash or in kind for the purpose of improperly obtaining or rewarding favorable treatment in connection with a sale or purchase. Bribes and kickbacks may not be offered either directly or through another party.

Upon approval of this application from AmCham's board of directors, we agree to comply with the bylaws, rules, and regulations of the Costa Rican-American Chamber of Commerce.
